Objective

In today's business environment, companies are looking to optimize production and reduce costs while efficiently reaching their customers, driving global supply chain management and logistics to the forefront of business strategy.

In recognition of this development and in alignment with the objective to enable professionals to quickly respond to the challenges of globalization, IE Business School, MIT Center for Transportation and Logistics (CTL<sup>1</sup>) in Cambridge, Massachusetts and Zaragoza Logistics Center in Spain have partnered a Dual Degree: International MBA & Supply Chain and Logistics program in which participants will have the opportunity to earn both the International MBA degree at IE Business School and one of the following specialized titles:

- Master of Engineering in Logistics degree from the Supply Chain Management (SCM) program at the MIT Center for Transportation and Logistics (CTL) in Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA.
- Master of Engineering in Logistics & Supply Chain Management (ZLOG) at the Zaragoza Logistics Center (ZLC<sup>2</sup>) in Zaragoza, Spain.

This dual degree program is intended to prepare professionals for careers that combine general management capabilities with specialized logistics and supply chain management skills.

Admissions Criteria

Students will apply to both schools separately and be evaluated for admission by each based on respective requirements and criteria, including GMAT, GRE or IE Global Admissions Test (ieGAT) as applicable. For administrative identification, applicants for the dual degree program will be requested to indicate their intentions on their applications to both schools so that close consultation between both institutions' admissions offices be facilitated. Please note that tuition scholarships supporting the dual degree program are only available if application and admission to both schools has been processed prior to commencement of either.

Deadlines

IE offers two intakes per year (April & November) and has a rolling admissions process meaning there are no deadlines. On the other hand, MIT-CTL and ZLC centers have one intake per year and review application deadlines in 2 to 3 rounds, depending on the institution. Therefore, students applying for the fall intake of the SCM/ZLOG should not apply after the previous spring season*. Students can start the program in either institution and complete the dual degree in the other. The total duration of the dual degree can vary from 19 months to 2 years depending on the combination chosen. Several combinations are possible:

Option 1: If the student joins IE's November intake and then MIT/ZLC in September, the total duration of this combination would be 19 months minimizing the time the student spends away from the job market. The structure is as follows:

IE Business School International MBA (9 months)	1 st period Nov-Feb	2 nd period Feb-May	3 rd period May-Jul	SCM / ZLOG (9 months)

The total duration of this combination is 2 years. The structure looks as follows:

IE Business School International MBA (9 months)	1 st period Apr-Jun	2 nd period Jul-Sep	3 rd period Oct-Dec	Internship or IE Business School Electives & Internship*	SCM / ZLOG (9 months)

					2 nd period Dec-Feb

Option 3: If the student joins MIT/ZLC in September and IE Business School's November intake, the students have the opportunity to pursue an internship to fill the gap between the two degrees and directly apply what they learnt in MIT/ZLC. The total duration of this combination is 22 months. The structure would be as follows:

SCM / ZLOG (9 months)	1 st period Sept-Nov	2 nd period Dec-Feb	3 rd period Mar-May	Internship	IE Business School International MBA (9 months)
