EDEN is eagerly excited to announce our partnership with IE University and IE Foundation to fund our student-run endowment fund through donations, creating the greatest practical finance experience in education in Spain.

After two years of providing a virtual asset-management experience to talented and dedicated students EDEN is transitioning, thanks to the help of IE University, into managing real assets under management.

EDEN's mission is to empower students with invaluable practical experience and to nurture the next generation of finance leaders by supporting their education at IE University.. Additionally EDEN will also be dedicating 100% of its profits to fund scholarships at IE University through the IE Foundation.

This next-step realises EDEN's vision to create Spain's first student-created and student-run endowment fund, opening the doors to an exciting opportunity to start career in finance to all students at IE University.

For this however we need your help, EDEN is open to donations, looking for individuals or companies willing to support our project and help push forward financial education in Spain alongside IE Foundation, while generating positive social impact.

Donors will have access to everything we do at EDEN, from equity reports, to valuation files, to networking events, and much more.

Donations can be made through the following platform:

All donations made to IE Foundation for this purpose will be allocated to the EDEN initiative with the aim of providing students with a comprehensive learning experience.
